

Bangkok building takes bronze in global architecture competition.

Property Report

04/03/2010 09:11:38

The Met on the Thai capital's South Sathorn Road, designed by WOHA Architects, has collected bronze in the annual Emporis Skyscraper of the Year award. The 69-storey residential tower incorporates multiple green features and optimises energy-efficient comfort in a tropical climate, say judges.

Comments (0 posted):

View thread