Facts

- Harbor Point's shape is formed by joining three hooks into a triangle.
- This was Chicago's last high-rise constructed east of Lake Shore Drive. Since its completion the Drive was rerouted, so today Harbor Point is west of it.
- This is one of 3 residential towers in Chicago with black Miesian windows and 3 rounded lobes: see also Lake Point Tower and Park Tower Condominiums.
- The building anchors the eastern end of the Randolph Street 'streetwall' which fronts the northern edge of Grant Park.
