- Surpassed One Tampa City Center in 1986 as the tallest building in Tampa, and was the city's tallest until completion of 100 North Tampa in 1992.
- The elegantly designed three-story atrium lobby emits a sense of activity lending a feeling of solidity, warmth and refinement.
- Bank of America Plaza instantly elevated the business community's expectations with its imported marble façade and landscaped piazza.
- A 4-seat 2000 Cessna 172R was taken without permission from the St. Petersburg-Clearwater Airport on January 5, 2002 by an inexperienced young pilot and crashed into the 28th floor of the 42-story tower at around 5 pm EST. The pilot was killed but no one in the building was apparently injured.
