Facts

- The number of floors above ground depends on which side of the building you are on. The "front entrance" (east side) has 17 above-ground floors; the west side has 16 above-ground floors (due to higher land elevation), and the rear side is connected to a parking deck with lower levels. The main building has one below-ground floor as measured from the front entrance (which is why it is figured as 18 stories in some sources).
