Facts

- The building has a BREEAM rating of 'excellent'.
- The redevelopment includes a convex glass roof structure that bows out over Pentonville Road and offers panoramic views.
- The building's energy supply is augmented with photovoltaic balustrades and photovoltaic louvres to the Pentonville Road elevation; the domestic hot water system employs solar hot water panels.
- The former Webb House was an 8-storey office building, which is being refurbished by the addition of two new floors at roof level, and an extension on the Killick Street frontage containing residential accommodation.
- The Pentonville Road elevation features a high performance glazing system framed with aluminium, whilst the building's envelope incorporates high performance glass and solar control louvres.
